Responsibility Map

Session 5 – Stop Doing It All Yourself

RESPONSIBILITY MAP

A tool for turning helpers into owners and reducing dependence on too few people.

Purpose

The Responsibility Map helps leaders identify those areas that depend too heavily on one person and begin creating conditions for another person to take ownership. You are not redesigning your entire unit, you are identifying one responsibility and taking one step toward shared ownership.

Quick Start Guide

Choose one meaningful responsibility that currently depends heavily on you or a small number of people.

Then ask four ownership questions:

1. What responsibility are we examining?

Choose something meaningful to your unit. Following are some examples
Keep in mind, this is not an exhaustive list.

- Recruiting
- Advancement
- Camping
- New Family Welcome
- Communications
- Fundraising
- Pack Meeting Coordination
- Court of Honor Planning

2. Who currently carries most of this responsibility?

Think honestly. Is ownership shared? Or would the responsibility struggle if one person stepped away?

3. Who could grow into ownership?

Do not focus only on who is ready today. Think about who could grow into the role with trust, guidance, and coaching.

4. What is one “next step” toward ownership?

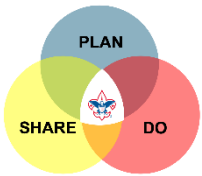

Identify one practical action that would move responsibility from dependence toward shared ownership?

Important Reminders

- The goal is not to transfer everything.
- The goal is not to build a new committee structure.
- The goal is not to find more helpers.
- The goal is to create more owners.

Kettle Country Responsibility Map

A calendar shows what is happening. A connected program helps people understand why it matters.

Program Assessment Connection

Area of Responsibility	Who currently carries it?	Potential Future Owner(s)	One step toward ownership

Ownership Reflection

If this responsibility disappeared tomorrow, what would the unit lose? _____

What knowledge, relationships, or decisions need to be shared? _____

One Next Step

One responsibility that should not depend on one person: _____

Who will help carry this step? _____

One ownership conversation I will have before our next meeting: _____
